In natural magic feathers are used in spells and ceremonies to promote change. They are used as catalysts to help focus concentration while carrying out spells and wishes. <sup>1</sup>

These are the bits and bobs I find thoughtful from around the web. I hope that this site gives you inspiration and ideas to allow the spiritual world into your life somehow.] We bind the powers in Jesus' name.

The medicine bag, also called power pouch or sachet, often includes special feathers which have meaning to the wearer and help attracting good luck as well as driving away bad things.

Feathers are often used to focus concentration in spells.

Feathers are magically ruled by the element of air. This makes them good communication helpers. But each feather also can hold other special powers; depending on the bird it came from, its color and place of discovery and other factors.

The knowledge what kind of feather is best used for what kind of indent can only be found out for oneself by trial and error. A pigeon feather is not more helpful for creating a defense strategy than a feather taken from a bird of prey.

The general rule for future feather magicians is always to use self found feathers rather than bought ones. A shop cannot substitute a walk in nature, nor the joy when the wanted feather is finally found.

Feathers are often used to focus concentration in spells. Feathers used for magical undertakings are mainly determined by the energy which is brought into the feather by the magician him/herself through concentration and thought. Beside from the energy the magician brings into the object, feathers hold certain natural abilities.<sup>2</sup>

BIRDS ARE SYMBOLIC OF DEMONS IN SCRIPTURES

Ezekiel 13. Notice the reference to birds, as Patricia regularly tries to pass off bird feathers as angel feathers; conning Christians with lie after lie after lie about visitations from minty green angels, brown angels, etc. Also note the references to occult practices, which are rampant in King's ministry. This passage clearly tells us where all these "angel" feathers are coming from: God's people are like birds, and King, Bentley, Sorger, Mills, Conner, and others are false prophets who entrap them in their deceptive snares. When the snares close around believers, some feathers are ripped off them and thus float around in the air for a minute or so. That explains the feathers falling in certain Christian meetings and churches. They are indeed prophetic, prophetic of false teachers lying to and ensnaring Christians in false teachings—all for a little bread and butter (and fancy cars and mansions and expensive clothes and vacations and cruises):<sup>3</sup>

<sup>17</sup> “Now, son of man, set your face against the daughters of your people who prophesy out of their own imagination. Prophecy against them <sup>18</sup> and say, ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Woe to the women who sew magic charms on all their wrists and make veils of various lengths for their heads in order to ensnare people. Will you ensnare the lives of my people but preserve your own? <sup>19</sup> You have profaned me among my people for a few handfuls of barley and scraps of bread. By lying to my people, who listen to lies, you have killed those who should not have died and have spared those who should not live.

<sup>20</sup> “ Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: I am against your magic charms with which you ensnare people like birds and I will tear them from your arms; I will set free the people that you ensnare like birds. <sup>21</sup> I will tear off your veils and save my people from your hands, and they will no longer fall prey to your power. Then you will know that I am the LORD. <sup>22</sup> Because you disheartened the righteous with your lies, when I had brought them no grief, and because you encouraged the wicked not to turn from their evil ways and so save their lives, <sup>23</sup> therefore you will no longer see false visions or practice divination. I will save my people from your hands. And then you will know that I am the LORD.’ “<sup>4</sup>

Prophet Patricia King and Colleagues to Sell Angel Feather Pillows

Posted in Joshua Mills, Patricia King, Prosperity Gospel, Uncategorized by inthedustofyeshua on February 7, 2010

Patricia King, Joshua Mills, and Matt Sorger ministries have announced a new prophetic venture: a company that will manufacture pillows for parishioners to use while soaking in revival meetings. The pillows, called Restables, will each contain at least one angel feather that has fallen from heaven in their respective meetings. “We figured the Lord gave us the feathers for a reason,” King said. “He wants us to make them available to the body of Christ so that the angelic anointing may rest on those who are hungry enough for God that they buy an angel feather pillow. What a marvelous opportunity for the body of Christ to now receive from the angels Prosperity, Swift, Revival, and others who have blessed us with their holy presence.”

Restables will come in three sizes—small, medium, and large—and will range in price from $99.99 to $599. However, those pillows that contain a minty green feather from the minty green angel named Prosperity will go for $999.99 each due to their special transferable prosperity anointing for those who use them. The Restables website should be up and running by March, according to Extreme Prophetic spokespersons; yet orders are being taken now by all three individual ministries.

For those who view the selling of so-called angel feathers as a con-artistic duping of the sheep, King has warned: “Do not touch the anointed, and do no harm to God’s profits!” Nonetheless, many just aren’t buying the woman’s flimflam, or her scare tactics, or her pillows. “She’s using fake feathers to tickle the ears of the simple,” said Mike Greenbaum of Integrity Ministries. “And God, who is duped by no one, will deal with it in His own minty green time.”<sup>5</sup>

PAT KING MEETS GREEN ANGEL “ANGEL OF PROSPERITY”

King relates how she was visited by the “angel of prosperity.” She said that when she met the angel of prosperity, it had a minty green color. She says:<sup>6</sup>

“When I met the angel of prosperity, the Lord says, ‘This angel ministers my Kingdom

prosperity. I am letting that angel serve you now, and I’m, I’m giving you a blessing, an authority, to minister prosperity, Kingdom prosperity, to those I lead you to, and to specific ministries.’ And so I’m not going to go into the whole story on this clip because of...of...time, but I was able, directly after that visitation, was able to minister to a ministry who was struggling financially. In fact, they were going to have to lay off their pastoral staff, and maybe even shut down their church because of a financial issue, and I was able to minister the prosperity of the Kingdom of God, and that angel had come to help me do that work. They come along side to serve us. They’re ministering spirits. The word ministering means to serve. And so, um, I went into that church and I released the prosperity of the Kingdom of God, and overnight, within forty-eight hours they had enough finance to meet their deficit, to do some building programs so that the zoning could be fulfilled, and they’ve been in that abundance ever since. And God gave me another opportunity right after that, to minister to another ministry, and again they had a breakthrough. Well, when I got home from that particular tour, after ministering the prosperity, on my sofa was this great big mint green-colored feather. I don’t know where it came from. It was a sign from God, though. I find the

But, it was, it was mint green. I know that green is the, the Kingdom color for prosperity. Um, it speaks of lushness and growth and, and uh prosperity and healing and renewal and, um, so when I got home there was this, this big feather that had been on our couch, and uh, we still have that feather today just as a little reminder that Jesus is good. He's full of prosperity. He is to be worshipped as Jehovah-Jireh, our provider, as the God of more than enough. And, of course, we exalt Him above all else, but He also sends angels to serve Him and to serve us in those purposes. In the name of Jesus, I release the prosperity of the Kingdom to you right now."*<sup>7</sup>

Hmmm...minty green angels with minty green feathers. Good grief. This is beyond heretical, this is ridiculous! I mean, what do you say to something this .....

stupid? If something this absurd can pass as sound doctrine, the church is in SERIOUS TROUBLE! You wanna know what the saddest part of all is? This does pass as sound doctrine... to many! Many believe this stuff. They actually set under it and eat up every word.<sup>8</sup>

Patricia King, formerly Patricia Coking, was in the occult and was, admittedly, a new ager in the past. However, when she decided to become a Christian, she didn't leave behind all of those mystical practices or concepts.

All of this focus on the color green rung a bell, so I decided to do a search for the meaning of colors in new age spirituality. Here is what the color green means:

Green symbolizes money, luck, prosperity, vitality and fertility. It is also associated with envy. Green is the color of healing; it is beneficial in all healing situations. In the aura green signifies balance, peace and often indicates ability as a healer. (Source)<sup>9</sup>

FALLEN WITCHCRAFT SPIRITS RULING OVER SOME CHURCHES

<sup>7</sup>

Throughout the Old and New Testaments, the prophets of God confronted the problem of the occult.

The term occult is derived from the Latin word "occultus," which means to cover up, hide, or those things which are hidden or secret. A brief definition of the occult is the practice of attaining supernatural knowledge or powers apart from the God of the Bible. The first is disillusionment with the church and organized religion. The second factor is curiosity. There is an attraction to the occult that appeals to our interest in the unseen. Many begin with "harmless" dabbling, but this can often lead to more. Third, there is the quest for power. People want control over the future, spirits, or over other individuals.<sup>10</sup>

There are three primary categories of the occult world: divination, (magick, Satanist and witches spelling) and spiritism. Divination is the attempt to foretell the future and thereby shape our lives accordingly. The divination arts include astrology, zodiac charts, crystal balls, tarot cards, palm reading, psychics, numerology, and horoscopes.<sup>11</sup>

The second category is magick or paganism. Those in magick attempt to control the present by ceremonies, charms, and spells. The magick arts include witchcraft, white magic, black magic, sorcery, Satanism, black mass, and witch doctors. Then there is spiritism. Those involved in spiritism attempts to communicate with the dead and receive information or help from them. Spiritism involves Ouija boards, séances, necromancy, and ghosts.<sup>12</sup>

The world of the occult not only brings a false message, but a dangerous one as well. Experiences with the occult drive us away from God and bring us into contact with the demonic realm. Jesus said the Devil is "a liar and the father of lies." (Jn. 8:44) In dealing with the demonic, you cannot expect them to deal in truth. The Devil and his legion only seek to "steal, kill, and destroy." (Jn. 10:10) For this reason, (Deut. 18), labels the practices of witchcraft, sorcery, divination, and necromancy as detestable to the Lord. It was these practices that brought judgment on the Canaanites and expelled them from the land. God did not want such teachings to infiltrate any culture. The church must not only present the danger of the occult, but the message of life and victory found in Jesus Christ over the principalities of darkness.<sup>13</sup>

KUDALINI

"For Satan himself transforms himself into an angel of light. Therefore it is no great thing if his ministers also transform themselves into ministers of righteousness, whose end will be according to their works," (2 Cor. 14, 15).

Kundalini is a psycho-spiritual energy, the energy of the consciousness, which is thought to reside within the sleeping body, and is aroused either through spiritual discipline or spontaneously to bring new states of consciousness, including mystical illumination. Kundalini is Sanskrit for "snake" or "serpent power," so-called because it is believed to lie like a serpent in the root chakra at the base of the spine. In Tantra Yoga Kundalini is an aspect of Shakti, the divine female energy and consort of Shiva.(see also Tantrism).<sup>i</sup>

The power of Kundalini is said to be enormous. Those having experienced it claim it to be indescribable. The phenomena associated with it varies from bizarre physical sensations and movements, pain, clairaudience, visions, brilliant lights, superlucidity, psychical powers, ecstasy, bliss, and transcendence of self. Kundalini has been described as liquid fire and liquid light.<sup>ii</sup>

A RELIGIOUS HINDU SPIRIT

Kundalini

Sanskrit, literally "coiled". In Indian yoga, a "corporeal energy" - an unconscious, instinctive or libidinal force or Shakti, envisioned either as a goddess or else as a sleeping serpent coiled at the base of the spine, hence a number of English renderings of the term such as 'serpent power

Is this the manifestation of the Holy Spirit, or could it be it the awakening of Kundalini, an Indian spirit that sits at the base of your spine? I have cast it out many times. It is a religious, Hindu spirit that is attached to these false religious, angelic revivals. We are going to see many people struck with illnesses of all types because these spirits will play with you in the beginning. However, since the Devil has come to rob, kill and destroy, they will eventually strike those who have offered themselves to this foolishness. Many will die because of spiritual blindness. The sheep who follow Todd Bentley are eating up every word that he says about angels, yet they are forgetting that the Bible has warned us about angels:

Indian yoga, with its emphasis on the transmutation of energy to higher consciousness, was the chief contributor to the cultivation of Kundalini and the preservation of its knowledge prior to present times. Kundalini was a rarity in the West before the 1970s until more attention became centered upon the consciousness. In 1932, for example, psychiatrist Carl G. Jung and others observed that the Kundalini experience was seldom seen in the West.<sup>iii</sup>

However, an examination of mystical literature and traditions showed that Kundalini, called by various names, seems to have been a universal phenomenon in esoteric teachings for perhaps three thousand years. Kundalini-type descriptions or experiences are found in esoteric teachings of the Egyptians, Tibetans, Chinese, some Native Americans, the Kung bushmen of Africa. Kundalini has been interpreted from the Bible as "the solar principle in man," and is referenced in the Koran, the works of Plato and other Greek philosophers, alchemical tracts (the philosopher's stone), and in Hermetic, Kabbalistic, Rosicrucian, and Masonic writings.

There has been an awakening of Kundalini knowledge among the Western populations since the 1970s because of two major reasons: more people who are trained in the spiritual disciplines are likely to release the energy, and the increased number of people that are aware of Kundalini are more likely to recognize its symptoms or benefits.

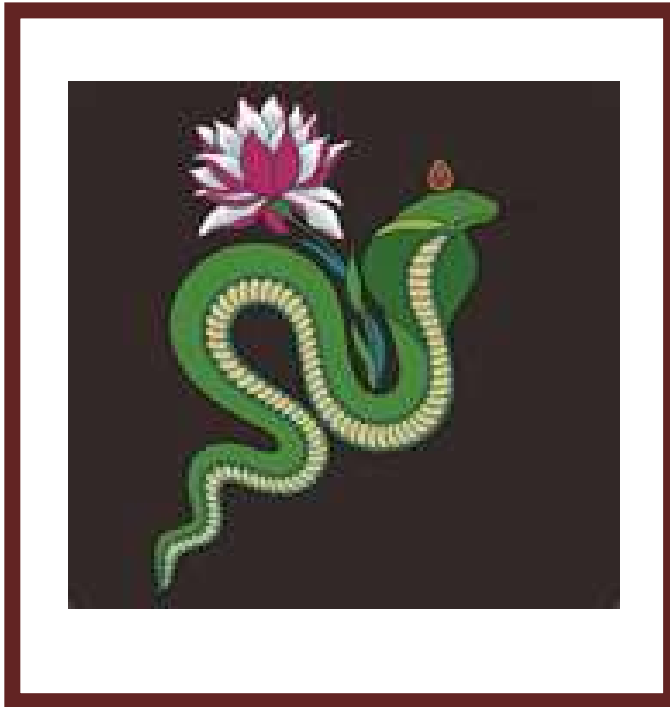

Not all kundalini experiences are identical to those classical awakenings experienced in yoga, but may vary in intensity and duration. Typically the yogi meditates to arouse the kundalini and then to raise it through his or her body. (It should be remembered though, not all types of yoga are devoted to the arousal of kundalini.)

First, the yogi feels the sensation on heat at the base of the spine, which may be intensely hot or pleasantly warm. The energy then travels up a psychic pathway parallel to the spinal column. The sushumna is the central axis, crisscrossed in a helix by the ida and pingala. As it rises the kundalini activates the chakras in succession. The body becomes cold and corpse-like as the kundalini leaves the lower portions and begins to rise. The yogi is likely to shudder, tremble, or rock violently, feel extreme heat and cold, hear strange but not unpleasant sounds, and see various kinds of lights including an inner light. The length of the kundalini may be fleeting or last several minutes. The objective is to raise the kundalini to the crown chakra, where it unites with the Shiva, or the male polarity, and brings illumination. The yogi then attempts to lower the energy to another chakra, but not below the heart chakra because descent to lower chakras is thought to produce ego inflation, rampant sexual desire, and a host of other ills. By repeatedly raising the kundalini to the crown, the yogi can succeed in having the energy permanently stay there.

It is said that kundalini opens new pathways in the nervous system; the pain associated with this apparently is due to the nervous system's inability to immediately copy with the energy. Yogis assert that the body must be properly attuned for kundalini through yoga, and that a premature or explosive awakening can cause insanity or death.

Other individuals, it has been determined by Western psychologists and psychiatrists, have experienced kundalini awakenings but not the explosive kind. One notable characteristic of these lesser awakenings is that the individual thinks, acts, and feels remarkably different. Symptoms may involve involuntary and spasmodic body movements and postures; pain; abnormal breathing patterns; paralysis; tickling itching; vibrating sensations; hot and cold sensations; inner sounds, such as roaring, whistling, and chirping; insomnia; hypersensitivity to environment; unusual or extremes of emotions; intensified sex drive; distortion of thought processes; detachment; disassociation; sensations of physical expansion; and out-of-body experiences (OBEs). Generally the elimination of such symptoms can be brought about by a heavier diet and temporary cessation of meditation. The phenomena of these lesser kundalini awakenings seem to indicate that the definition may have to be expanded from that of the coiled serpent of yoga. Such experienced awakenings are difficult to definitely define though because scientific research of kundalini energy is still in its embryonic stages, little is known of the energy's nonphysical nature, and many of its symptoms are similar to those associated with mental disturbances and stress.

One of the most dramatic instances of classic kundalini awakening was experienced by Copi Krishna (1903-1984), of India, who meditated for three hours every morning over seventeen years. On Christmas Day, 1937, he had his explosive awakening with kundalini pouring up his spine. By his personal account, he rocked out of his body and was enveloped in a halo of light. His consciousness expanded in every direction, and a vision of luster unfolded before him; he was like a small cork bobbing on a vast ocean of consciousness. This extraordinary experienced occurred once again, and then Krishna was plunged into twelve years of misery, during which he "experienced the indescribable ecstasies of the mystics...and the agonies of the mentally afflicted." Following twelve years his body apparently adapted to the new energy and stabilized, but he was permanently changed. Everything in his vision was bathed in a silvery light. He heard an inner cadence, called the "unstruck melody" in kundalini literature. Eventually he could experience bliss just by turning his attention inward. He became, as he said, "a pool of consciousness always aglow with light." His creativity soared allowing him to write poetry and nonfiction books.

Krishna devotedly spent most of the remainder of his life learning the secrets of kundalini. He considered it "the most jealously guarded secret in history" and "the guardian of human evolution." To him it was the driving force behind genius and inspiration. He also thought within the brain is the blueprint to evolve humankind to a higher consciousness, one that makes use of kundalini. Too, he believed kundalini could improve the health of humankind with its ability to regenerate and restore the body, to lengthen life, and eradicate such conditions as mental retardation.

Krishna made ever effort increase the cultivation of kundalini in the West. Many researchers followed him, but some disagreed with the importance that he gave kundalini. A.G.H.

WITCH HUNTERS

The internet is full of web sites of New Agers, wizards, witches, cults, and occultist. Most of your Christian bloggers have never written one article concerning these people. Why? Well, could it be that these people are not pretending to be Christian ministers like so many of the so-called Christian Mystics. Are these mean bloggers persecuting and attacking the New Age Christian mystics that are appearing and bringing their bizarre doctrines of darkness to the Christian Church?

Did these new strange Christians actually think that they would be able to palm their disgusting faith off without true Christians blinking an eye? Thank God, there are still a few who have been taught by the Lord, His Word, His purpose and His power according to the scriptures; and determined to preach the Gospel that leaves the Living Jesus at the center of their messages. No one wants to hurt anyone. However, when you look at the sad state of the Christian Church and its leadership, you really want to weep as David Wilkerson did in Russian.

Our pastors will only realize their spiritual blindness concerning these new mystics when they find their churches empty and their bank accounts dead. Since writing these articles concerning the “Lakeland Outpouring,” I’ve received phone calls from many preachers that are crying the blues concerning the loss of their sheep. Many are actually going broke and closing down their churches on the west part of our state. Many Christians have called me and told me that they are losing their family members and friends to this so-called revival.

The Preachers said that their members are telling them, “We can’t return to your church because we have spiritually gone beyond your church. Friends break relationships that were long term acquaintances. It is heart-breaking.

Many are taking the heat to alert the sheep that the wolves are in the sheep pens while pastors sit with their mouths closed. A local pastor told his congregation, “I will not tell you not to go over to Lakeland, but I will just warn you to be discerning.” I really wanted to puke when I heard that comment. May God have mercy and give these so-called shepherds some backbones to rise up and help rescue the ones who are still standing. I hear Jesus weeping as I see the condition of most churches. Stand up pastor while you still have time to make a difference. Teach the Word, in season and out season. The sheep are dying.

Let me get this straight. Warning Christians that these people are not being sent by God and their revival is ungodly that we are touching God’s anointed and blaspheming the Holy Ghost? Please give me a break.
